The first place prize went to Allen Smith for a monologue entitled "What it Was, Was Football." The second placed winner was Cheryl Walton, who played a piano solo entitled "Bridge Over Troubled Waters." The third place prize went to Mary Catheran Simpson, accompanied by Debbie Johnson on the piano, for singing "I Honestly Love You." The week of November 13-17 is American Education Week. Students and teachers at Appomattox Middle School will celebrate this week by having a Student Teach Day on Wednesday, November 15. Student Teach Day is a day when certain students assist school personnel in the many positions within the school. Teachers and students plan lessons to be taught together and the students will teach for a day. The SCA president and secretary will help the principal and the school secretary with their many duties. Appomattox Middle School staff continues to provide open communication between school and community and invites parents to visit the school at anytime.
